COMMUNITY INTEGRATED VULNERABILITY ASSESSMENT

Pacific Island Countries are vulnerable to climate change and global warming.

PROJECT GOALS:

CIVA is a toolkit designed to reduce risk and increase climate resilience in the community. It works to identify the areas in the community that are most at risk or vulnerable to climate change and natural disasters, map this data, and make action plans to address the issues gathered from the community.

This project will sponsor youth to be trained and partake in CIVA so they lead and help their community prepare for natural disasters and future effects of climate change.
