

PRAY THE NEWS

True diplomacy is not just about negotiations at a conference table—it's about building trust and ensuring the well-being of nations and people.

Diplomacy involves dialogue, compromise, and a willingness to understand different perspectives while striving for solutions that promote stability and justice.

It requires patience, strategic communication, and a commitment to long-term peace rather than short-term gains. However, in many areas, diplomatic efforts are faltering, and our prayer can focus on areas of wisdom, patience, and renewed commitment from global leaders. Diplomacy has been strained in many areas of the world, including between:

- Israel and Gaza
- Russia and Ukraine
- The United States and China, Canada, Mexico, Greenland and Ukraine
- Many African countries with new leadership

TODAY, WE PRAY THE NEWS FOR DIPOMACY

- We pray for wisdom and patience for leaders, mediators and diplomats as they navigate difficult negotiations. May they always seek peace over power
- We pray for those affected by failed diplomacy, especially civilians caught in conflict zones.
- We pray for honesty and transparency in international relations, so that dialogue is based on truth rather than political manoeuvring.
